

Willet Builders, Inc. Continues New Capital Improvements for Iroquois Central School District

BUFFALO, NY— Willett Builders, Inc., a full service construction firm comprised of contracting, construction management, and fabrication divisions is pleased with their ongoing work on a multi-year agreement with the Iroquois Central School District.

The scope of work involves capital improvements within the district, including extensive interior & exterior renovations to all buildings within Iroquois CSD. Complete upgrades to all mechanical, electrical, and plumbing systems, as well as all new doors and windows, along with new roofing.

Funding was made possible through the New York State Education Department, which allocated over $600M of its' FY 2018 capital spending toward education. Willett Builders, Inc. has a great depth of experience in construction projects within education, including Williamsville, Forestville, Albion, Sweet Home, & Perry School Districts, among others.

The firm takes pride in continuing to have a major impact on modernizing Western & Central New York schools.

“We have a lot of experience in large scale capital projects for local school districts,” said Willett Builders, Inc., owner Ryan Willett. “These enhancements will improve the functionality, and extend the life of these buildings.”

With over 2,000 students in five schools, the Iroquois Central School District has schools in Elma, Marilla, and Wales.
