

Willett Builders, Inc. to Begin Complete Reconstruction for Buffalo Municipal Housing Authority (BMHA)

BUFFALO, NY— Willett Builders, Inc. (WBI), a full service construction firm comprised of contracting, construction management, and fabrication divisions is pleased to announce their work for reconstruction for the Buffalo Municipal Housing Authority (BMHA), Site “C”, is underway.

The scope of work involves complete reconstruction to five BMHA sites, including site work, new mechanical, electrical, & plumbing (MEP) services & fixtures, plus all interior finishes.

WBI has most of their experience in MEP construction. Their facility’s equipment and software allows us them to maximize efficiency and reduce time for installation drastically. Their direct lines of communication from the shop to the field allows them to meet exact needs of things like points of connection, obstacles in the structure, space requirements, assembly requirements, and coordination requirements.

With deep roots in Buffalo, Willett Builders understands the value BHMA brings to the community, and is excited to contribute to their cause.

“We are very excited to see this project in the beginning phases,” said Willett Builders, Inc., owner Ryan Willett. “The BMHA’s mission aligns with ours, which is to help the citizens of Buffalo & Western New York, and improve the quality of life of those in need. Upgrading these sites ensures the accessibility of high-quality, affordable housing to families in the city.”
